

A misty, rural landscape with rolling hills, a large tree, and sheep in a field. The scene is captured in a soft, golden light, likely at dawn or dusk. The foreground shows a grassy field with several sheep grazing. A large, leafy tree stands on the right side of the frame. In the background, there are rolling hills and a line of trees, all shrouded in a light mist. The overall mood is peaceful and serene.

A photograph of a man with dark hair and a beard, wearing a blue shirt, carrying a large, woolly white lamb on his back. He is standing on a rocky, grassy mountain slope. The background shows a vast, rugged mountain range under a clear sky. A semi-transparent white box is overlaid on the lower half of the image, containing text.

Isaiah 40:11

Like a shepherd He tends His flock; He gathers up the lambs with His arm; He carries them close to His heart; He leads the ewes along.

SACRIFICES FOR HIS SHEEP

1 Samuel 17:34–35

David said to Saul, “Your servant was tending his father’s sheep. When a lion or a bear came and took a lamb from the flock, I went out after him and attacked him, and rescued it from his mouth; and when he rose up against me, I seized him by his beard and struck him and killed him.”

SACRIFICES FOR HIS SHEEP

Donald Carson

The shepherd does not die for his sheep to serve as an example, throwing himself off a cliff in a grotesque and futile display while bellowing, 'See how much I love you!' No, the assumption is that the sheep are in mortal danger; that in their defense the shepherd loses his life; that by his death they are saved.
